VOL. XX.—NO. 5982 PORTLAND, OREGON: MONDAY, JUNE 7, 1880. PRICE—TEN CENTS

GENERAL NEWS.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.

Telegraph Interrupted.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—The telegraphic wires east from this city have only worked by jerks to day, and no press report has come through.

State's Probable Strength on First Ballot.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The negative vote of 30 in the West Virginia case is considered by nearly as an approximate test of Blaine's strength for the following reasons: All the Grant and Edmunds men voted yea as did the Sherman men in Massachusetts, North Carolina, Ohio, and also Sherman's unassuming votes from other states. On the first ballot Blaine may fall to reach the 380 because the ten Windom votes will go last for the latter, but Blaine is their second choice. The few Washburne votes were about equally divided. The anonymous vote was 417 admitting two contesting Stearman delegates.

CHINA AND JAPAN.

Matters Personal, Political, Commercial

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—The steamer Oceanic from Hongkong via Yokohama has arrived. She brings Hongkong news to May 12th. The latest capture of the Chinese government respecting Chang How, points to his resignation and degradation to low rank, with opportunities of a gradual rise to power.

Anti-foreign leaders at Peking continue boisterous and defiant of Russia, and threaten war in case of failure of Tsing's negotiations for the unconditional rendition of Ili. The war party was never stronger than at this moment. Hostile preparations in an imperfect Chinese style are pursued everywhere. Careful observers nevertheless doubt the power of the minority government faction to throw the country into war against the judgment of the statesmanlike prince, Kung and Li Hung Chang.

There is considerable activity in Russian ports for the accommodation and supply of expected Russian war ships.

Minister Seward is unexpectedly visiting Shanghai.

JAPAN.

YOKOHAMA, May 22.—The United States ship Tuscarora returns presently from Corea. Her exact intentions are not revealed, but she will probably renew the attempt to negotiate at some point nearer the capital than the port visited in May. The Japanese government does not officially co-operate with Shufeldt's mission, though its agents in Corea are informally instructed to show American visitors every attention.

Trade returns of Japan and Corea for the half year ending December, 1879, show the worthlessness of commercial relations with that kingdom. Corean exports were $346,000; imports from all sources through Japan, $318,000. No one single American commodity was imported.

John Rose has been sentenced to death by the consul general, Van Buren, subject to approval by Minister Bingham, for the murder of Robert Kelly, second mate, of the American merchant ship Bullion.

The issue of government bonds is proposed to counteract the depreciation of paper currency. The bonds will be purchasable at par by paper, and are to bear interest at four per cent. in specie. The amount of the issue and the period of redemption is still undetermined, owing to diverse opinions of the ministry, some of whom place much reliance on the scheme, while others regard it as unnecessary, currency fluctuations being evidently the work of speculations and not due to nature or legitimate causes.

H. S. Van Buren appointed marshal United States consulate general of Yokohama.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

Part of Nevada City, Cal., Burned—The Chinese Quarters in Ashes.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEVADA, June 5.—About 4:15 o'clock this afternoon flames were discovered issuing from the upholstery establishment of John White, situated on Broad street. Before the fire department could reach the scene, the entire building was in flames. The New York hotel, Harrison street butcher shop and Irish's place soon commenced to burn. The Chinese shanties in the rear of these buildings soon caught, and hundreds of people from all portions of the city and suburbs commenced to flock to the scene of the conflagration. It was feared that the town would surely be burned to the ground. Darkness closed in and the flames continued spreading rapidly toward the corner of Broad and Pine streets, carrying everything before them. Building after building caught. On the other side of the New York hotel the entire portion of China-town, and a portion of Pine street occupied by the denizens was soon devoured. It was thought that the courthouse would suffer, and prisoners in the jail were removed to the city hall and kept under guard. Excitement at this time was intense, streets were filled with furniture, and teamsters running to and fro, creating the goods of sufferers to places of safety. During the progress of the fire, one explosion after another could be heard in the vicinity of Chinatown. They came from fire-crackers and powder stored in Chinese stores. At half past 5 o'clock, Chinatown was laid in complete ruins, a portion of Pine street was destroyed, and nearly all buildings from Brandt's jewelry store to engine house No. 2 were completely consumed. Total loss, including upward of fifty Chinese buildings, will be from $50,000 to $60,000.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Seal Fishing off Cape Flattery—Personal —The Weather, etc.

PORT TOWNSEND, June 6.—There are six schooners engaged in seal fishing at Neah Bay. The total catch this year, to June 1st, is 4483. The quantity of seals is unusually large, but mostly at a distance of from 150 to 200 miles from shore. The weather has been too rough for constant fishing, or more than double the number could be taken. The average value of large and small is about $7 50 each.

Captain Jocelyn has arrived at Fort Townsend from leave of absence.

Weather showery and excellent for farming.

Immigrants beginning to arrive from California.

LONDON, June 6.—Eighty-six members of parliament have signed a memorial asking for the recall of Sir Bartle Frere.

HAVANA, June 5.—Gen. Guillerman and Brig. Gen. Jose Macco, insurgent leaders, have surrendered with 222 officers and men.

NOTES FROM DALLAS.

DALLAS, June 5, 1880.

Real estate in this city is looking up since the advent of the narrow gauge.

Some of our leading men will probably soon take the necessary steps for the organization of a stock raisers' and growers' association.

The industrial enterprises of getting out oak staves, hoop poles and other hard woods, will soon be taken in hand on quite a large scale.

But one accident occurred here on the 4th inst. A young man named Easton accidentally discharged a pistol, the ball penetrating the fleshy part of his hand.

One hundred and fifty thousand bushels of wheat, will be shipped from Dallas this year, which will require greater storing facilities than the heavy construction of several war houses to be built near the depot grounds.

It having been satisfactorily ascertained that the sun upon the hillsides quite as rich as that in the valleys, several thousand acres of this hill land, covered with scattering groves of small oaks, will this year be cleared and brought into profitable cultivation. This land possesses the additional advantages of not requiring drainage, and never freezing out.

The enterprising publisher of the Itemizer, G. E. Good, contemplates enlarging and otherwise improving his paper, and fully keep pace with the times. ESCRITO.

The annual meeting of the Christian church in Yamhill county will commence June 10th at the campground a mile and a half from McMinnville.

SPOKAN FALLS.

SOMETHING ABOUT A LIVE TOWN.

Description of the Magnificent Falls of the Spokan River—General Notes.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

SPOKAN FALLS, W. T., May 19.

Everything seems to indicate that the town of Spokan Falls will be the distributing point for the greater portion of the country described in my last two letters. It has now between six and seven hundred population, several large general merchandise stores, two saw mills, one grist mill, a brewery, the usual number of smallstores, shops, livery stables, etc., and a live newspaper. There have been built since Feb. 1st forty-eight stores and residences, varying in cost from $500 to $2500. It is one of the finest, if not the finest, site for a city in Washington territory. The town commences on the banks of Spokan river, and runs south for nearly a mile to the foothills. To the west is a high, level plateau with natural drainage to the river. In full view of the magnificent falls, the wooded hills in the rear, and the snow-covered mountains in the far distance, protected on the west by dense woods and on the south by rows of hills, it is just the nicest place imaginable for residences. To the east is a row of small hills on which a volcano tossed at delightfully irregular intervals a lot of immense rocks. A gentleman (I could not help admiring his romantic taste) who will be married soon has bought a spot for a residence among these little hills, and will have as the chief ornament for his lawn a rock thirty feet high and about fifteen feet square. He proposes to plant vines at the base and allow them to trail over and cover it. He thinks with that dreamy author, Ike Marvel, "If I have no conservatories with their wonders, ye the sair and I together can build up a cupplee of blooming things in my door-yard, of which every living leddie shall be a miracle." There are a hundred just such unique building spots, and some day they will be appreciated.

I am led to believe that Spokan Falls will be a city within five years because: first, the roads leading to it are good; second, it will in all probability be selected the county seat of Spokan county; third, it has a water power as great, and more available than the Willamette Falls at Oregon City; fourth, it will be a division terminus of the Northern Pacific railroad; fifth, it is situate in a splendidly timbered district; and because, above all, the leading men of the place are enterprising and public spirited of the same metal as the men who founded Portland, and through whose energy Portland reached her present station of greatness. The owners of land in Spokan Falls have invested their own money in improvements, and instead of adopting the plans of many short-sighted men who have all ted more than one ambitious town on this coast, by imagining that they would have independent fortunes by simply holding on to their lands, they give to all comers such encouragement as will induce strangers to become a part of the town and assist in its immediate advancement. The railroad will run directly through the town, and the depot will probably be located within three hundred yards of what is now the center of the business portion.

I have not the least doubt that Spokan Falls, and for that matter all the other towns in Spokan county, will, as soon as the climate advantages are better known, and railroad communication established, become the abiding places of a large number of persons afflicted with weak lungs. The experience of a few residents of the Spokan country, who have suffered from lung troubles, leads to the conclusion that the climate is wonderfully restorative. A lady who had lived in the Willamette valley for a number of years, and was constantly troubled with hemorrhage of the lungs, moved to Spokan Falls about two years ago, and is now in perfect health. Her cure was remarkable. She informed me that before she left her home in Oregon City she was so weak and sore from continued bleeding of the lungs as not to be able to stand the slight jar of a steamboat. Her physician advised a change of climate as the only means of restoring health, and told her that she might congratulate herself if she recovered within five years. As soon as she was able to make the journey she came here, and in less than three months was able to perform household duties, and within six months, as far as any return of lung troubles was concerned, entirely cured. To say that she is delighted with the climate don't express her feelings. She said to me, as a particular favor, and regarded it as a duty the OREGONIAN owed to the public, to announce what a wonderful healer the air in that country was.

The Magnificent Falls.

The falls and rapids of the Spokan river, from which this town takes its name, present a grand sight. The river has a tremendous current above the falls. The banks are high, rugged basalt rocks. Five rocky islands, a few hundred feet above the falls, divide the river into six irregular channels. Three channels unite near the south bank and rush in great waves over a precipice, shaped like the horseshoe falls at Niagara. Three channels unite near the north bank, and flow around an island in immediate rapids. These two great channels, formed by the six lesser, unite, one pouring in from the north and one from the south. With frightful velocity the body of water, endeavoring to find its way out between walls of rock too narrow to allow it free passage, becomes a seething, hissing, roaring mass of whirlpools. The torrent rushes for three hundred feet to fight its way down, and as it strikes the adamantine banks, throws up countless fantastic crysta s. At the footof the lowest of the succession of falls the waters plunge into an immense pit, whose depth has not been measured, casting up a most beautiful forms to the hight of one hundred feet or more jets of silvery spray, which make a fountain indescribably grand. The sun at evening shedding its rays on the sparkling drops, throws against the eastern sky God's promise of peace to the world.

The river has a fall of 180 feet in 800, and the power to drive more machinery than could be placed along a mile of its banks. The power can be easily utilized at an expense too small to be taken into serious consideration.

Personal and General.

The river at its narrowest point (opposite the town) is only 250 feet wide and a bridge can be built at a cost no exceeding $8000. This will probably be done within a year.

The river below the falls flows between steep banks seventy feet high and forms a large semi circle. The land within this circle, about 100 acres, is perfectly level, and has already been selected for a future fair ground and driving park. A fence across the diameter of the circle and throwing a few shovels of dirt for a track will be all the expense necessary for a good start as a park.

A. M. Cannon, J. N. Glover and J. J. Brown, all well-known in Portland, are the leading spirits of the town and are very enterprising business men, but they had faces as long as their arms a few days ago. The railroad fire had been located in Spokan Falls. A number of men living on Deep creek, a few miles north, wrote to Gen. J. W. Sprague and the directors of the Northern Pacific Railroad, that a much easier route could be had along that creek, and they agreed to pay the cost of a survey. A party of engineers was ordered to make the Deep creek survey, and went to work. A report was received by the reliable name of Post Pat Parry had found a easy pass, and that the railroad would leave Spokan Falls out in the cold. Cannon and Browne and Glover thought their case was gone, and there was "weeping and wailing and gnashing." But they got over their scare when they learned that the engineers on the survey had come back "grumbling off" plus 200 feet deep, and declared the line impracticable.

The banking and general merchandise house of Cannon, Warner & Co., stand at the head of Spokan Falls' business firms.

Capt. Geo. A. Pease, the well known pilot, has charge of the sawmill here, and is doing a land office business.

Among the firms which recently located here are F. A. Moore & Co. and J. S. Graham, of Portland.

Francis H. Cook, formerly of the Herald, is making a splendid, newsy paper of the Spokan Three. N. J. L.

A vein of coal three feet thick has been discovered about five miles from Silverton. It resembles Puyallup coal and is thought to be valuable.

PENITENTIARY STATISTICS.

Number 1.

In Mr. Watkinds' report for 1874, to which he invites attention in a recent communication to THE OREGONIAN, there is on page 69, under the head of Exhibit "B," a summary of the cost of maintaining the convicts from 1868 to 1874. In that exhibit Mr. Watkinds reports the expenditures from 1870 to 1872 as being $79,677 75 and the average number of convicts 38. From 1872 to 1874, $86,427 22; average number of convicts, 106. The aggregate expenditures for these four years is $165,-104 97; average number of convicts, 97. Cost for each convict for these four years, $1,717 94; cost for each convict per week $6 21; average expenditures for each quarter from 1870 to 1874, $10 362 81. These figures, it will be observed are taken from Mr. Watkinds' published report for 1874, page 69. During these four years Mr. Watkinds paid to the state treasurer the sum of $2,250 out of the gross earnings of the penitentiary.

Under the present administration the total expenditures for the nineteen months ending May 31 are $27 006 75 for an average number of 150 convicts, or an average expenditure per quarter of $4,264 23, which for four years would amount to $68,227 68.

During these nineteen months there has been paid into the state treasury as earnings of the penitentiary, $8500 75.

Now, if we charitably concede that, owing to his innate ignorance of business, as well as of truth and common decency, it would vex the state as great a sum to maintain 97 convicts under Watkinds, as it would to maintain 150 under a superintendent possessing even ordinary administrative ability, and the steal in these four years amounts to the sum of $97,577 29. And yet Mr. Watkinds claims that during these four years the penitentiary was nearly self-supporting. Let us glance briefly at what he terms "earnings." On page 10 of his report for 1872, he says, "The whole amount of land being in the state is under fence and mostly grubbed and cleared and under good cultivation." In his report for 1874, and under the head of "Improvement account," we find:

To 1126 days Grubbing at $1 50 per day	$1689 00
To 1133 days Grubbing at $1 50 per day	1699 50
To 30 days Grubbing at $1 50 per day	45 00
To 713 days Grubbing at $1 50 per day	1069 50
To 325 days Grubbing at $1 50 per day	487 50
Amounting in all to	$5085 00

See pages 40, 43, 48, 50 and 55, report 1874.

If "the whole amount of this land," it will be remembered, "was under fence and mostly grubbed and cleared and under good cultivation" at the close of the preceding two years.

At other item of "earnings" in this report for 1874, on page 68, under the head of "Exhibit B," is:

"Brick dirt thrown up ready for use, 4177 cubic yards, costing 4359 days' labor, $7,-288 50."

This is at the rate of $1 75 per yard, which would make the business of throwing up brick dirt a most profitable industry on paper. All of this juggling in figures, however, does not modify the one fact of paramount interest to the men who are paying taxes on property not stolen from the state, and that is, that of the $165,804 97 of their money, which was drawn from the state treasury during these four years, by Mr. Watkinds, $68,227 68 was necessarily expended for the maintenance of the penitentiary, and the balance, amounting to $97,577 29, was used for corrupting the politics of the state, electing Mr. Grover to the United States senate, and converted by Mr. Watkinds to his own use. It will be observed that in this estimate full $7 Ar. Watkinds as much for keeping 97 convicts as $50 convicts costs under the present administration.

The investigating committee called the attention of the people to the extravagance of Mr. Grover's administration, and, amongst others, Mr. Watkinds was censured. This accounts for his hostility to every one connected with that investigation. But the inexorable logic of accomplished facts cannot be lied away. The curious student of political economy can take the published reports and make his own calculation; and, to borrow a quotation from Mr. Watkinds:

"Truth crushed to earth will rise again."

Very respectfully, W. STANLEY.

TOO MUCH OFFICE D.

On the back of vol. 7 of Oregon reports (just published) appears the name of C. B. Bellinger as supreme court reporter during the past two years while he was holding and enjoying the office of judge of his circuit. The office of reporter is a lucrative office, provided for by law (code 741). The constitution (art. II, sec. 10) says: "nor shall any person hold more than one lucrative office at the same time." Yet Judge Bellinger sworn as a judge to support and enforce the constitution and the laws, holds both of these lucrative offices in open violation of our constitution. It might be mentioned that this volume, too, closes up the decisions at our which the people are bidirected up; and in one of them, the Greenwood will case, in which Bellinger was an attorney, he has omitted his own name to hide his connection with the case! It may be remarked too about his report of that case, that Bellinger has omitted all statement of the facts except as they appear in perverted form in Prim's opinion.

JUDAS BACCHUS AND THE JUDGES.

The Results of Triumph.

The Judges Rules and Regulations—A few of the facts relative to your right to govern (when you have governed), I will enumerate:

First—It will frighten away forever capitalists from the development of the great resources of our beautiful state. They see the future filled with great interest upon the one hand now going on between young and the people. They see the issue coming plainly before the press of Oregon and of the nation; the issue whether the money of the foreigner is safer than ours. Your election will be proof to them that it is not. Your credit for commercial honor will vanish from their minds as the pilot before the surf and no part of his state will feel its disastrous effects more than Portland. "Panic fails" will be written in brazen characters over our trade marts, on our splendid brick structures, and upon our beautiful harbors.

Second—That private rights of every citizen will be subject to the mercy of your rapacious clique headed by the governor of the state, which has plotted through your agency, for two years in the spoil of helpless suitors, whose wails are even now going out to the people from every county of Oregon.

Third—The laws will only be such as you choose to declare them "in each case," and no man can know them any more than could the children of Rome know the edicts of the tyrant Caligula, which were written in small characters and placed high up on a pillar. Nay, not as much so for our laws were not promulgated with even the privilege of the tiddle-de-dee of your ring, and then, like meteors, disappear forever.

Fourth—Immigration will be retarded. People will hesitate long before they cast the fortunes in a land where there is no respect for established principles of law, and where the people return to power men, the last color of whose inclinations has reached across a continent. Or, if they come, they will carefully avoid investing in lands, primanufactures, or permanent improvements.

Fifth—The press will be muzzled by a despotism as great as that of Russia; for your claim of exemption from criticism embraces the power to punish contempt by fine for bringing you into disrepute by exposing judicial crimes.

Sixth—The bar of Oregon will be forever dishonored, and this result is perhaps the most fatal. If we have them the erupting slave and hatchet-men—mercenaries of kings instead of the intelligent and trustworthy friends and defenders of the people. The American bench of the past hundred year has been noted for its ability, integrity and purity, and upon that fact the thoughtful part of mankind has confidence in the permanence of our institutions and the upholding of real and true liberty. In the history of the world equal has not been popular rule. But the fame of the American bench for integrity is due to the independence of the American bar. Such noble exhibitions of the bar as Charles O'Conor and those associated with him in the Tweed cases, and others too numerous to be cited, compel the respect of the world. Should the bar of Oregon become the mere tools of the judges, and fail to perform its duty to the people and the tyranny of the courts, have not hesitated to denounce the press and its fearless, infamous deeds, one of the corner stones of the barbarian state of which the protection and guaranty is the people in their rights, and forces the court, always, with reason, to justify their acts. The protection of private rights is the end and aim of free government. That protection depends solely in an honest and independent bar. Your election destroys that protection in Oregon, and therefore destroys all real free government. Many of the fatal results, countless like the circles from the pebble on the water, hinge upon your election. But I forbear to enumerate. I will not believe that the people will, upon such issues, return you to power.

One word more, personal to myself, and I leave you in the hands of the voters. Your ring—the same in each of its Protean shapes—bound me down, upon the arena to shore, the noble and brilliant Eugene. In vain, until he lost faith in man and almost his belief in God, I held to his knee, in the existence of a God. Yes, bounded on, with fiery rein and rowels, down to his grave will vanish from their minds as the pilot before the surf and no part of his state will feel its disastrous effects more than Portland. "Panic fails" will be written in brazen characters over our trade marts, on our splendid brick structures, and upon our beautiful harbors.

THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon.

New potatoes have appeared in the McMinnville market.

There is not a vacant house in Silverton. Dwellings are in great demand.

A little son of T. R. Brown, of Salem, fell into the race near the university and narrowly escaped drowning.

Charles Hurley has sold his farm on the Abiqua to a Canadian for $2400, and will remove to Eastern Oregon.

Shepherd, the Clackamas and Silverton mail carrier, rides 58 miles a day each day in the week, except Sunday.

A number of residences will be built at Cottage Grove this season. Business in that part of Lane county is lively.

The bridge across Cozine creek, near McMinnville, is being thoroughly repaired. Laying been in an unsafe condition for some time.

On Thursday last J. Dyer, of Silverton, caught eighteen pounds of mountain trout in Abiqua creek. He sold the same for twenty cents a pound, realizing $3 60 for three hours' sport.

A lad by the name of Baxter was accidentally shot at the Belknap springs on the McKenzie last Sunday, by a companion. The ball from the rifle passed through his left leg about four inches above the knee, in flicting a painful but not dangerous wound.

Southern Oregon.

One of the most substantial bridges in Douglas county is being built across French creek.

Miss Louie Messer, daughter of J. P. Messer, aged nineteen years, died recently of diphtheria at Coquille City.

A man named Oatman was robbed of $350 at Yoncalla recently, near Canyonville, by two road agents, who commanded him to "stand and deliver."

Word from Siuslaw has been received to the effect that two more bodies from the ill-fated schooner Scales have been found. One of them is supposed to be the captain from the fact that he had a gold ring upon one of his fingers. They were terribly mutilated. One had lost an arm, and the other his head.

It is said by the best judges in such matters—dentisters and stagemen—that the work now being put upon the military road in the southern part of the county is the most substantial and best ever shown upon any public improvement in the state. The officer in charge appears to have a correct knowledge of the requirements in the case and is doing the thing permanently. The appropriation of $10,000 was made for the road, and Lieut. Symonds is seeing that every dollar of that money is being judiciously expended. The citizens of the county should have no pains to make the entire road in as good condition as the lieutenant is making the worst places. If this is done, we will hear no more of Crescent City roads from Jackson county.—Plaindealer.

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 7, 1880.

WHITEAKER'S WORK.

The Standard is anxious to have us tell what Whiteaker has done, and here goes. He was governor of Oregon in the days when the support of every member of the Union was of the utmost importance in the effort being made to save the government from destruction at the hands of traitors, and he threw the weight of his position and in an official form his advice in favor of those who were trying to break up the Union, to place Oregon alongside the seceding states. He sat two or three terms in the Oregon legislature and drew his pay therefor, but did nothing whatever for his constituents, never drafting or introducing a bill, which the body of which he was a member deemed of sufficient importance to pass into the form of law. He ran for congress and was elected through the weakness of the republican candidate, went whirling across the continent in obedience to party behests to vote against S. J. Randall, a northern man, for speaker and in favor of Jo. Blackburn, an ex-confederate brigadier. But after he had made this great ride across the continent with such haste, he quietly sat down in his seat and did nothing for Oregon, but voted with party every time for all the partisan measures and jobs which his party endeavored to get through the special session. On the big "job" which the thieving contractors on the star routes have now before congress to swindle the government out of millions of dollars, he has voted for the grabbers every time, just as he did for the Oregon lock and dam swindle. When Col. T. E. Hogg, by his personal influence with the members of the committee, secured the committee's consent to insert the item of $40,000 for the improvement of the entrance to Yaquina harbor, in the appropriation bill, Whiteaker voted for it and straightway telegraphs to his organs that he has done this great work, and they take up the shout and proclaim him a great worker. Wonderful Whiteaker, after over fifteen years in office he has done one thing, cast one vote for the interests of his constituents. This is all—the sum total of his official life. If Mr. George does no more than this we will advocate his retirement at the end of the term of office to which he will be elected by the people of Oregon to-day.

THE ASSESSORSHIP.

The Rural Spirit, a paper devoted to matters entirely outside of politics, contains the following under the above caption:

The Rural Spirit is in no sense a political paper, and does not, therefore, advocate the election or defeat of any one who aspires to office upon political grounds. The office to assessor, in a true sense, is not a political one; it is one that the people—the whole people—are interested in and one that few men are well qualified to fill. The present assessor of Multnomah county, Mr. George C. Sears, is qualified; he is a practical business man, and has been engaged in most kinds of business. Mr. Sears is otherwise qualified. And why? Just because he has proven to the people that he will not be influenced by the monied men. Has he raised the assessments of that class? He has. And for that reason the moneyites oppose his re-election. The people should remember that a true and proper assessment, such as Mr. Sears has made not only raises the revenue of the county, state and school fund, but one of the biggest items is the increased road tax. Every $1000 in property gives so many days' work; and we are credibly informed that Mr. Sears assessment over other assessments will increase this one item many hundred days. Mr. Sears deserves to be re-elected. He has done his duty—and fearlessly, too—and should the people now indicate their choice for some other they ignore the principle that an officer should do what the law tells him is right.

A NUT FOR GROVER'S FRIENDS TO CRACK.

Tom Merry, candidate for state printer on the democratic ticket, gives the friends of Senator Grover the following morsel of consolation in his paper, the Inland Empire, of last Saturday:

A low-lived sheet in Portland says that the nomination of Thos. B. Merry was "forced upon the democratic party" because forty-nine ballots were taken before a result was reached. This is not true. The delay grew out of the fact that every one of the adherents of the late (but not lamented) Salem ring was present, and he was not the man of their choice. The paper indorsed the investigating committee, and in doing so it but followed in the wake of every honest democrat in East Oregon. It does not propose to condone felony because the perpetrator happens to vote a democratic ticket occasionally. The only men calling themselves democrats in Marion county who oppose Merry's election are those who are now seeking "green fields and pastures new" because Gov. Thayer would not continue them in office.

DEMOCRATIC DISQUST.

A disgusted democrat writing to a friend in this city about the political situation says;

Our party has certainly got a fine lot of true blue democrats now in charge of its fortunes in this state; Kelly, the great cipher, the bolter of 1868; Gariey, the Grant elector of 1872 and who would probably vote for Grant again; Bellinger, the manager of the bunpling efforts to steal Oregon's electoral vote, and the willing man Friday of Bush who compassed the destruction of Delazon Smith; Gov. Thayer, a political nondescript, and Prim, the clay in Kelly's hands. Democracy is surely in interesting hands and all trying to couch Grover! Hurrah, for the tail end of the Kilkenny cat!

The writer is evidently a Grover man and as such he don't see his way clear to vote for the men who are trying to kill off his friends. The way for republicans to do is to defeat the whole corrupt crew.

The Mercury, a democratic paper in this city, says: "Mr. Chattin admitted that he made the offer to withdraw from the candidacy for the clerkship for $500, and excused himself on the ground that 'he considered his chances worth that much, and that it was a business transaction with him.' We regret the simplicity of Mr. Chattin, who seems not to be aware that men are possessed of many things that should not be made merchandise of. Electors may consider their votes worth money, but when they are caught selling their votes or "offering to sell" them the law sets the penalty at a term of labor in the penitentiary. Judges sometimes make merchandise of their decisions, but a public admission of such an act would subject them to the severest penalties of the law. Again we say we regret that Mr. Chattin, who had won such a warm place in the good esteem of the people of Portland, does not hold the friendship of his supporters above dicker and merchandise."

The Standard having failed to convince the foreign-born citizens of Portland that they belong to the democratic party, and to unite them against the republican ticket, on which will be found the names of three or four gentlemen of foreign birth, turns loose its writer of billingsgate on Dr. Meyer, a German, because he is so warmly supported by the republicans. It belittles the claims of Mr. Showers, the republican nominee for treasurer, because a number of Mr. Showers' friends in the democratic party have declared their intention to vote for him. The attempts of the democratic organ to make capital on the place of birth, or the religious belief of candidates in this contest, have signally failed, as such unworthy subterfuges always will with men of good sense and judgment.

Col. J. H. Reed allowed himself to be led into a very indiscreet statement at the democratic meeting Saturday night, concerning the action being taken at the Chicago convention. He pretended to have received news that Pixley of California, had seconded the nomination of Gen. Grant, when, the fact was that the news had already come that Pixley had made a stirring speech seconding the nomination of that noble republican, the true friend of the Pacific coast, James G. Blaine, whom we yet believe will be the standard bearer of the party in the coming presidential canvass. Col. Reed was perhaps misinformed, but he ought to have known better than to have taken the word of irresponsible parties.

Why do Messrs. Lidd & Bush come before the public in a card at this time, to reply to a matter published two months ago, if it is not for the purpose of defeating the republican candidate for county assessor in this county? People who think will come to the conclusion that the card is not called out on account of the matters involved in business transactions between the parties, but because an assessor is wanted who will not differ with some people as to the amount on which they should pay taxes. Mr. Sears has made one of the best assessors Multnomah county ever had, and a faithful discharge of the duties of the office, giving favors to none, however rich, is what the people want.

THE OREGONIAN has made the fight for the republican state and county ticket in this canvass as against the enemy of national unity and equal rights. It has not unjustly attacked any man, but has endeavored to show that public interests and good government will be subserved to the success of the party to which the people are indebted for what we have of country or government. It has specially appealed to no man's religious predilections or nationality. It has addressed the voter as an intelligent, reasoning man. To that reason and intelligence it leaves the issues.

Judges Kelly and Bellinger know four years ago that Oregon had voted by over one thousand majority in favor of the republican candidate for president of the United States, on a fair and square ballot. Notwithstanding this knowledge they cannot deny, and have not denied that they did all in their power to thwart the clearly expressed will of the people by having an electoral vote from Oregon cast for Mr. Tilden. Are men who will go to such an extent to serve their party the proper men to intrust with positions in which no partisan bias or personal predilections ought ever to enter?

Four or five days since the plan proposition was made as follows: Judge Prim was a stockholder in the Canyon Mill company and received the profits on his stock in the way of tolls collected on that road; the supreme court, of which Prim is a member, decided that the company was not legal and that its collection of tolls was contrary to law; that Prim did not dissent from the opinion, but declines to refund the money wrongfully received. The proposition has not been denied. Citizens of Oregon, are your interests safe in the hands of such a man?

In the Inland Empire Tom Merry boasts that he obtained the nomination for state printer at the hands of the state central committee through the influence of the Tanner-Bush element in the party, and claims his nomination to be an indorsement of the present administration and against that of Grover and Chadwick. This will undoubtedly bring him strong support from the friends of Grover's administration.

It is said on pretty good authority that if Mr. Whitehouse is elected clerk he will continue his present lucrative situation, and will entrust the clerkship to his deputy, whoever that may be. He was put on the ticket because of his supposed popularity, and not because he desired to quit his present place. If Mr. Berthwick should be elected, he will devote his time to the duties of the office, which he will discharge faithfully and well.

The democratic organ in this city will doubtless come out this morning with its usual stale stories concerning the republican candidates, but the thinking reader will not be deceived. Its extra issue this morning is for the sole purpose of circulating falsehoods in hopes of deceiving the people into voting for the nominees of the Jeffery-Norden convention. The voters will mail the organ's falsehoods at the polls.

Joe Buchtel has lived in this county twenty-six years, and the people all know him to be a public-spirited, enterprising man; courteous and obliging to all, fully as competent as Ben Norden to discharge the duties of the office of sheriff. If elected he will not appoint as deputy a man worth over a hundred thousand dollars, to the exclusion of poorer men, equally as competent and deserving otherwise.

Hundreds of democrats in this county have come to the conclusion that they have stuck to the party ticket long enough, when by so doing they subserve the interests of nobody but Ben Norden and E. J. Jeffary. They will vote independent of party lines to-day, and will scratch Norden and Jeffary, as well as some of the minor lights in the Norden-Jeffery ring.

Republicans of Multnomah, the country demands your services to-day. A rousing majority will set the seal of condemnation upon the corrupt practices of a democratic administration which heaped upon our state a burden of debt and brought disgrace to all honest Oregonians.

Republicans of Multnomah, you gave Hayes and Wheeler 583 majority in 1876, and C. B. Bellinger conspired with James K. Kelly and other democrats, to defraud you out of your expressed will. Can you honestly support a man who thus assailed your most sacred right?

About half the democratic candidates are having bogus tickets printed, each in his own interest. Let republicans be true to their colors, stand by every man on the ticket, vote straight, and democracy, so-called, will be routed, "bone, foot and dragoon."

Circulars have been printed and will be scattered around the city to-day making various untruthful and unfounded charges against some of the republican candidates. Voters can satisfy themselves of the falsity of such "roorbacks" by taking a little trouble.

The prospects of Oregon's favorite candidate for the presidency are brightening. Elect a republican ticket to-day and to-morrow ratify Blaine's nomination, and jubilate over your victory in this state at one and the same time. It will be glory enough for one day.

The Standard attacks J. M. Caywood most bitterly because he is a republican. It professed great sympathy with him a few days ago, until it found out that he was working for the success of the party to which he has always been true as steel.

Democratic Irishmen and Germans of Portland will show Norden and Jeffrey to-day that they are not forgetful of the fact that neither of these men have ever done anything to elect a ticket on which the name of one or both was found.

Elect a legislature that will continue the work begun last session of correcting the evils and punishing the rascalities which had their origin and growth under a democratic state administration. A democratic legislature will not do this.

The foreign-born citizens of this county will bear in mind that no other candidate on either ticket has been assailed as the Standard has assailed Dr. Meyer republican nominee for the legislature.

Mr. Odell could wish for no stronger campaign document for himself than Tom Merry's open letter printed in the Standard yesterday. It will cause Merry to lose hundreds of votes.

Exalt the reputation of the state judiciary by voting for Lord, Waldo and Watson as judges of the supreme court, men of learning, honesty, and free from partisan prejudice.

Vote for Odell for state printer, as you will be sure to do if you have read Tom Merry's open letter in the Standard of yesterday.

Vote for Raleigh Stott for judge of this district, and we will have a man who will deal out justice to all, whether friend or foe.

Vote for M. C. George, as true a man as was ever on any ticket, whether you take him morally, socially or politically.

Let every republican do his duty to-day. The man who flinches in this fight will be remembered hereafter.

There is no the least necessity for republicans to trade to-day; they can elect every man on their ticket.

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 7, 1880.

SEND IN THE RETURNS.

Agents of THE OREGONIAN, postmasters and precinct judges, are requested to send us full election returns at earliest convenience.

CITY.

LADDERS AT FIRES.—The new Hayes truck was brought into use at the Oregon bakery fire Saturday night, but delay occurred in hoisting its ladder, which might, in a more critical situation, have resulted in serious loss. When half way up it fouled with the telephone lines which extend along the west side of First street, and not until the wires were cut could it be hoisted in position. No damage of consequence resulted from the delay, and the incident may not be considered unfortunate if the caution which it suggests be observed in the future. The truck men should be prepared to cut wires without delay, and it would be well to carry one of the old hand ladders, which in many situations can be adjusted in less time than the Hayes apparatus.

THE "JOHN GATES."—The new shaft for this boat has been completed at the company's shops at The Dalles, and she will take her place on the river again in a day or two. The laying-up the Gates at this season has been of considerable disadvantage to the company; but the accident was unavoidable, and repairs have been pushed forward with all diligence and alacrity.

COMPLIMENTARY.—Among the art notes which appear in a late San Francisco exchange, the following paragraph is observed: "A View of Cape Horn on the Columbia River, by Ed. R. Hill, which is on exhibition at the Art Association rooms, looks as if it might be one of his father's sketches, and promises well for his future."

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.—The work of grading and filling in for the sidewalk on Fourth street in East Portland, has been begun, and the sidewalk from Jarset north will soon be laid. The work on the new gravel street in Stephens' addition, goes forward rapidly, and soon the street will be open to travel.

CHURCH BOX SHEET OPEN AT 7 A. M.—The box sheet for the Heyman-Marcinar-Campbell concerts will be open at 7 o'clock this morning at D. W. Prentice & Co's. This early hour has been chosen to meet the expressed wishes of theater goers who desire to secure seats before office hours.

EXERCISES AT ST. HELEN'S HALL.—The closing exercises for this term at St. Helen's Hall will take place Wednesday afternoon. Judge Deady will deliver the graduating address, and Bishop Morris will confer the diplomas. The art department will be open to visitors Wednesday from 1 to 3 P. M.

OUR SUNDAY EDITION.—THE OREGONIAN has received many thanks and compliments for its enterprise in issuing the special Sunday edition, delivered free to subscribers yesterday. That we were unable to give more Chicago news, was the convention's fault, not ours.

DISCHARGED.—A few days ago mention was made of the shooting of Jack Montgomery at Jacksonville by a man named Earle. Earle was arrested, but was discharged after a preliminary examination, as it was proved that the shooting was done in self-defense.

CROOKED UP.—The latest dispatches from up the Columbia indicate that the water is still coming up. The Willamette here is 20 feet above extreme low water mark.

INTERNATIONAL GOOD TEMPLARS.—Regular meeting of Bethel Home Lodge No. 1, I. O. G. T., of the world, to-night at 8 o'clock, corner of D and Third streets.

POLLING PLACES.

The following are the polling places of the several precincts of Portland and East Portland:

South Portland—No. 1's stable, at the corner of Front and Market streets.
Madison—Court house, on Fourth street.
Western—Mrs. Moffett's butcher shop, corner of Seventh and Salmon.
Morrison—The lime house, on Third street, between Taylor and Yamhill.
Couch—Taft's barrel factory, on First street, between B and C.
North Portland—Cabinet shop of Chas. L. Koehn, corner of Third and Astreets.
North East Portland—Malarkey's store.
East Portland—Odd Fellows' Hall.
Grant—Livermore's schoolhouse.

CARPENTERS.

There will be a campmeeting held on the Crab tree camp ground, four miles from Lebanon, beginning on the Thursday before the second Sabbath in June.

Also at Pine Creek, near Smithfield, in Lane county, on the Thursday before the third Sabbath in June. This will be the district conference, at which all the ministers will be present.

Also at Dixie camp ground in Polk county, embracing the third and fourth Sabbaths in June. This will be a joint meeting with our brethren of the M. E. Church.

Also at Yamhill river, near Gaut's bridge, beginning on Friday before the first Sabbath in July. Ministerial help has been secured for all these meetings.

BRIEF NOTES.

Vote early.

Street sprinkler no good.

Who will be nominated?

To-day will settle the question.

Places of business will be closed to-day.

Damp weather on the picnics yesterday.

The fire was rough on the telephone wires.

Every bit of news from Chicago will be eagerly looked for to-day.

HOOK AND LADDER TRUCK.

[Albany Democrat.]

On the 10th of May the steamer Columbia started from New York for Portland, and will probably arrive at the latter place some time between the 1st and 15th of July. The new hook and ladder truck belonging to Rescue, No 1, will come on this vessel, and the firemen are anxiously awaiting its arrival. It was ordered from the old and reliable fire supply house of Fred J. Miller, in New York City, and cost $700. The council saw fit to order at the same time six rubber buckets, costing $12, and three brass duty trumpets, costing $10 50 which brings the amount of the bill up to $722 50, and then the insurance on it all from New York to Portland costs $13 12. The draft on the city for the entire amount —$740 62—arrived last week, and by order of the city was paid. The exchange amounted to $6, which made the draft on the treasurer $740 62, and not $1000, as was reported by one of our papers last week. The truck measures three and a half tons, and by special contract made by the manufacturer with the O. R. & N. Co., we get it laid down at Portland for the small sum of $75; the freight on it from there to this place should not exceed $5 at the most, which would make the total cost of the truck, laid down here in Albany, $836 62.

CARD FROM MR. SEARS.

In reply to the letter published in the Welcome and Standard by Albert, Ladd & Bush's tool, I only have to say that it is a willful misrepresentation of the facts made on the eve of the election for the purpose of defeating my election as county assessor and to save poor Mr. Ladd from paying his share of the taxes, and to have some one as assessor who will make the poor working classes and people of small means to pay all the taxes. And in conclusion, as far as cards in papers are concerned, I will say that the courts can and will settle the Salem business at the proper time, and I have no fears but that right and not might will win. And I ask of the voters if they think I have done my duty as assessor of this county to support me, and if I have not, vote against me, as I consider that is the only question involved in this election as far as the taxpayers are concerned.

If it is right to assess W. S. Ladd as I do a poor man, which I certainly will do if elected, you can vote for me; and if it is not right to do so, vote for some one else. Individually I can and will settle my personal troubles with Ladd & Bush. GEO. S. SEARS.

THE OREGON KIDNEY TEA!
Read the following testimonials, not from persons 3,000 miles away, whom no one knows but from well known and trustworthy citizens of Oregon, whose names, written with their own hands, can be seen at our office:

Silverton, Oregon, March 10, 1880.
I take pleasure in testifying to the remedial properties of the Oregon Kidney Tea. For the past two or three years I have been troubled with derangement of the kidneys, during which time I have tried various remedies, obtaining no relief. I bought a package of the Oregon Kidney Tea from C. Hayes, and from the first dose began to feel better, and am happy to say that after taking the package, I am almost entirely cured.
SAMUEL COX.

The writer of the following is a Baptist minister of many years standing, well known as a Missionary to the Indians, and is now a teacher in the school recently established at Forest Grove for the education of Indian youth:

I have been troubled many years with weakness of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies sought aid from many physicians and even changed climates to obtain relief, but have met with indifferent success. Hearing through a friend of the value of the Oregon Kidney Tea, I obtained a box of it, and have derived greater benefit from it than anything else I have yet found.

EXAMINATION FOR MURDER.

The Astorian of Saturday contains the following:

John Christiansen and Lars Larsen were brought before Justice Turley yesterday afternoon in the police court room to answer a charge preferred against them for having feloniously and maliciously caused the death of John Francis on the night of the 24th of May, by wounds inflicted on the head of the said John Francis, deceased. Messrs. Robb and Fulton conducted the case for the defense and F. J. Taylor for the state.

The principal witnesses examined were John Stephenson, proprietor of the half-way saloon on the road to Upper Astoria, and a woman residing in the same building. Their testimony was to the effect that on the night mentioned the prisoners came into the saloon where the deceased and some other men were playing cards. Some reference was made by the female witness to some harsh words said toward her by one of the prisoners on a previous occasion, and the deceased, who it was proven was considerably under the influence of liquor, asked the man if he would hit a woman, and said if he wanted to he could hurt him. Stephenson, anxious to prevent any quarrel, told them it was time to shut up the house, and the deceased went out first, the others following shortly after. He then locked the door, and says that loud talking was heard outside the saloon, but no noise to indicate that any blows were struck.

No testimony was produced implicating the prisoners beyond this, nor that John Francis was ever seen again after he left the Half-way house and parted with Larsen and Christiansen, who stated that they went straight to their lodgings and at early morning started as usual in their boat to go fishing.

The case was submitted without argument, and Justice Turley said that, though he believed that the verdict of the coroner's jury that the deceased met his death by violence at the hands of some parties, to them unknown, was a correct one, he did not find the evidence adduced sufficient to hold the prisoners, and he therefore ordered their discharge.

Within the Whole Range of tonic and alterative medicines known, none is entitled to more consideration than the Peruvian Syrup. In all cases of enfeebled or debilitated constitution it is the very remedy needed. The most positive proof of this can be adduced.

It is Terrible
To have a wife or husband with a bad breath. All this may be avoided by using SOZODONT. It is most agreeable to the taste, fragrant and healthful. It confers comfort upon its users, and prevents the affliction of unpleasant breath.

The irrepressible conflict predicted twenty years ago has not only taken place, but has culminated in that dreadful war of the rebellion, demanding its thousands of lives. How many die yearly through that conflict of rebellious nature named "Fever and Ague," so prevalent among us! Fortify your system with Flunder's Sure, Safe and Speedy Fever and Ague Mixture and enjoy life.

DELAY IN THE USE OF MEDICINE
Is often the cause of dangerous illness. In the great majority of cases the dislike to swallow offensive and nauseous doses is the reason assigned for this delay; but this objection does not exist against Bristol's Sarsaparilla and Bristol's Sugar-Coated Pills; both are pleasant to take, and are by far the surest medicines to make you well.

I Wish Everybody to Know.
Rev. George H. Thayer, an old citizen of this vicinity, known to every one as a most influential citizen, and Christian Minister of the M. E. Church, just this moment stopped in our store to say, "I wish everybody to know that I consider that both myself and wife owe our lives to Shiloh's Consumption Cure." It is having a tremendous sale over our counters and is giving perfect satisfaction in all cases of Lung Diseases, such as nothing else has done. DRS. MATCHETT & FRANCE,

THE REPUBLICAN MARCH.

BY J. F. C.

We marched down the street with our torches so bright,
An army resplendent with banners of light.
The democrats saw us and trembled with fear,
And murmured, "The day of our downfall is near."

We marched down the street with our torches aglow,
Like warriors marching to vanquish the foe,
And seeking the conflict, prepared for the fight,
The democrats wavered and shook at the sight.

We marched down the street with our torches ablaze,
Ten thousand spectators admiringly gaze;
The town was illuminated and bright as the day.
The democrats saw us and hastened away.

As we marched down the street we'll march to the polls,
An army of patriots, with fire in our souls,
A conquering army, the battle to gain,
The democrats see it and scatter like rain.

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 1880

ADDRESS

Delivered by J. E. Willis at the Lewis County Teachers Institute, Chehalis, W. T.

Mr President and Members of the Institute—As I am selected by the committee on programme to deliver the opening address of this Institute I bid you each and every one a hearty welcome A sweet twelve months have glided past since you were met for a similar purpose During that time most of you no doubt have been teaching and what has been your experience You have fulfilled the great mission of your calling I am sincerely hope namely prepared in a certain degree the minds of your pupils to comprehend the benefits and the advantages of an education When you have done this you have accomplished one of the most important ends in teaching for to be successful in your vocation it is no necessary that you should impart to your pupils any great amount of learning it is only requisite that you should inspire them with the love of truth and the refined accomplishments and that you should teach them that education is a shield against the vices and depravities of low life that education makes a person better that refined feelings and a sense of the beautiful are never found in those who are bereft of educational training that the benign influences that exist throughout the civilized world are propagated by the gifted and the accomplished minds that the love of charity is greater with those who are familiar with the conditions of all over the civilized world, and that real greatness consists in the determined exercise of conscientious freedom against the mean and pernicious influences of mean men

Teaching is an art a laborious science a difficult calling and should be attended with perseverence and patient toil The teacher is a representative of scholastic learning and should be possessed of the rarest and most refined accomplishments and rather in or out of the school room it should be his constant duty to instil in the minds of his pupils the love of knowledge, and an incentive to the pursuit of the richest mines of literary lore It should be the duty of the teacher to acquaint his pupils with the names, history and character of the great and good those mighty bulwarks of literature science and art whose names are emblazoned on the finest pages of history, and shine as a beacon to those who desire to have their names likewise recorded and be held in reverend admiration and esteem by the unnumbered posterity of ages to come

I admit that education has its preliminaries, and that in the common school the most fundamental principles are to be taught first and they should be taught with the greatest accuracy, and in so doing, all the skill which the teacher possesses or can acquire, should be employed But here arises a most difficult task How is the teacher going to manage to make his work a success? He is placed in so many trying and unfavorable circumstances On entering the school room on the first day of school instead of finding orderly and well disciplined pupils and all other conveniences, he often finds a mass of confusion His pupils are very much unlike in temperament and disposition, and there is a great difference in their degrees of advancement And perhaps there are not all the conveniences there should be in a well regulated school room. Not at all unfrequently are his pupils ill supplied with books, some are furnished with books that are too difficult for them In other words the minds of the pupils in many instances are not capable of grasping and comprehending the meaning of the books given them to study. Their minds are not far enough advanced and have not undergone that rigid discipline in the lower grades necessary to comprehend the meaning of books of a higher grade—some have scarcely any books at all, and are dependent upon their school-mates for books to study, and in classifying pupils it is almost impossible not to have some in classes far behind their classmates in learning Also, the school-room is very often in a tattered condition The seats are frequently inadequate to accommodate all the pupils, and many of the scholars seem determined upon having their choice of seats and jealous eyes of anxious parents are often planted on the teacher ready to detect the slightest partiality These, I say, are the circumstances under which the teacher is too often required to labor The best way then, for the teacher to pursue, is to exercise a spirit of independence and make use of the material he has to work with to the best he can He should ever look for the necessities of his school and even if he has often to provide from his own pocket, he will see in the end that he will not be loser There is a maxim among professional teachers that while a teacher governs his pupils in the school it is necessary to govern many of their parents And the task is quite difficult, the views of people differ so widely Some have mistaken ideas of self interest, and are more determined to have their "own way" than they are to look out for their own welfare. But such are the trials of the teacher Still he must introduce order in the school in the very beginning and insist upon its perpetuity during all his arduous labors, or he will soon find himself overwhelmed with trouble and mortified at his own ill-success.

It is the duty of teachers, when they assemble, to make an institute represent the school room, and the views of teachers should be freely expressed, and there should be an interchanging of ideas among all the members. Criticisms, also, should be freely made, yet not in such a way as to cause a breach of harmony An institute judiciously managed is not only pleasant, but it is profitable. Perhaps an idea will be advanced we have never heard before, and it will cause us to think, and investigate and become thoroughly conversant with some new species of knowledge. If mental and social intercourse had not been cultivated from the very earliest ages of existence, what an ignorant and selfish people we inevitably would have been! But, fortunately, it is one of the inherent principles of our nature It is only after people communicate with each other that they learn the necessities of knowledge. There are common duties to perform in all the pursuits of life, and perfection cannot be attained in any calling without it being thoroughly considered by the multitudes that make it a specialty It is by this means that the world grows wiser Every department of industry is gradually growing into a profound science through the media of communication and investigation The average of human life is being perceptibly lengthened by the development of the medical science, and every species of knowledge known to the inhabitants of the civilized world is being likewise developed and improved, and if the rate of progress in the achievement of knowledge should be as steady and rapid for a succeeding 500 years as it has been for the last 500, there would scarcely be a limit to human wisdom.

There is no vocation in which improvement is more necessary than teaching in the common schools. Teaching country schools, I am sorry to say has hardly reached the dignity of a separate profession The reasons of course are manifest but it is hardly necessary to mention them now Suffice it to say that, as the preparation for the work requires a devotion of much time to study and a great deal of experience the compensation is not sufficient

Teachers, there is a portion of history unwritten—it is the work of the teacher in the common schools The name and deeds of warriors are enrolled in imperishable print for the great works they have accomplished Each succeeding generation joins in the praise of their daring exploits Their names are commemorated and extolled as if they belonged to subjects of holiness The purest fancy coined in the poet's brain wreathes the soldier's memory in strains of the sweetest music. and his hero's deeds never cease to be sung Liberality of praise is likewise bestowed upon the statesman who has heroically stood at the helm of government and years after he has mouldered into clay we are filled with patriotic fire at the mere mention of his name Death does not diminish his memory but certainly increases our admiration for him Even his vices after death are forgotten, and all the ungodly phases of his life likewise pass into oblivion and he is remembered with a unive sally saddened brow After death his name is never mentioned even in the most casual way without his memory being graded with praise Among the remembered hosts of heaven whose charities are as boundless as eternity itself the soldier and the statesman to the eyes of the world have a resting place while song history and immense marble columns speak the glory of their names and rehearse the grandeur of their deeds and conquests

"Oh how dear oh how dear all their memories are,
Who have spoken in the senate or fought in the war

There are subjects of other vocations that share our tribute and the public for praise equally prodigal in awarding them fame But where is the teacher the poor patient toiling teacher who labors in the public school Yes the teacher who nurtures the mind of the statesman who plants with words of life the teacher who fosters and nurture the poet's germ in the poet's brain—the first friend of the poet who writes the most sublime fancy and whose language is said to be inspired by angels? Who was the teacher who first cultivated the mind of Washington whose word achieved the liberty of America? Who was the teacher who first cultivated the mind of Lincoln, the martyred president, who issued that memorable proclamation, emancipating the negroes from bondage

Who were the teachers who first inspired the young minds of Clay and Webster whose voices ever rang in defense of their country? Who was the teacher who first directed the youthful mind of Newton that venerable Christian and socialist who has said to have clothed the world with science? Who are the teachers who first inspired the minds of such men as Burke and all the ancient defenders of America as dictated to the youthful minds of men like Franklin and Morse, the one who invented the process of catching the lightnings of heaven the other of transmitting intelligence by the means of lightning Alas the names of the first educators are not remembered in history yet they are the source of all human intelligence often heard in the derisive names of pedagogues They have no monuments to tell the glory of their deeds but the green sods that adorn their graves and they have left no other work behind them but the polished and the noble minds of men whose names so brightly appear in history If there is an honorable calling in the world it is teaching and if there is one that deserves the most strin ent regulation and protection by the law it is teaching What can be more holy than training the youthful minds and calling forth the free manifestation of those inherent qualities of nature which are common to humanity everywhere What science is more important than the one on which all other sciences in the universe rest Teaching then is the most important science It is essential that educators should study first the cause of education A universal system of teaching should be adopted by the legislatures and become the veriest matters of law Do not let any one imagine that there is an overplus in the number of educators for their numbers, like the tillers of the soil can never be too great There is always room and the demand is forever greater than the supply Those who assume the profession of teaching should make it a profound study Perfection cannot be assured only after much work and preparation Those others may profit by our experience in fact important a work it is necessary that we should apply our whole time and mind with an energy as to make and make the world see and know that our endeavor to promote the cause of education is a reality

Teachers then should press right on—ever availing themselves of the skillful experience of others, and if the communion of their labors is at a discount, there never should be such a thing as discouragement for the time will come when their merit will be acknowledged and appreciated and success will dawn upon them, sparkling like rubies from the sunny lands, or the gentle waves of water dancing under the beams of the silver moon

I am a friend to education, and it is with great pleasure that I on behalf of this institute, bid you each and every one a hearty welcome and wish you unbounded prosperity as long as you are engaged in the work of education
